

Joan K. Cochet Memorial Scholarship Institute for Court Management at the National Center for State Courts

The Joan K. Cochet Memorial Scholarship for the Institute for Court Management is named in memory of the late Joan K. Cochet. As the NCSC Library Resource Manager, Joan was a true professional in every regard and was known for her gracious and generous spirit. Her service represented the highest ideals of the Center and continually enhanced the reputation of the Center around the country. Joan's love of learning was evidenced in her mentorship of numerous law school interns and court professionals pursuing the ICM Fellows certification.

TO APPLY

Candidates should submit an application form for consideration. Applications must include:

- 1) A current resume;
- 2) A current job description;
- 3) A statement not to exceed one paragraph describing the candidate's plans for financing his or her participation in the ICM Fellows Program, including financial need; and
- 4) An essay that addresses the following two items:
 - a) The candidate's personal view of the court management profession; and
 - b) How the candidate's career reflects the qualities that Joan valued and exemplified (professionalism, graciousness, generosity, love of learning, and mentorship).

APPLICATION REVIEW PROCESS

A selection committee led by the Vice President for the Institute for Court Management will review the applications and may interview potential candidates in person or via Skype. The selection committee will consider the candidates' overall qualifications as well as need while also keeping in mind those qualities that Joan valued and exemplified.
