

How are software or new video file format updates handled
as they relate to archived video conference records?
(Other responses)

Currently don't archive

Do not know - AOC maintains equipment and archives

Do not use video conference records as the official record

Don't know how updates are handled. We do not record the video of the conference only the audio on a different software system.

Hasn't been a problem yet.

Have not experienced this issue as audio format is backward compatible

N/A video conferences are not recorded

no recordings made

Normally we do not record video. If we do it is standard file formats.

Not applicable

Our Court uses a different application to record the record.

our official record is NOT the video and we do not encourage video taping

Recording software is independent of Videoconferencing software.

teleconferencing is not video recorded

There are no archives so update to the latest software.

VCON records are not archived.

video conference recordings integrated with digital court reporting

Video conferences not typically recorded

Video is not archived.

Video is not recorded

Video not recorded in NY.

WE do not archive

We do not record

We don't record proceedings
