

JUNE
24, 25, 30
AND JULY 1,
2020

BUDGET & FISCAL MANAGEMENT

ICM Online CCM Course

One of the long-term implications of the pandemic are the effects on the global economy, and financial concerns are paramount moving into the next budget cycle. In this course, participants will explore financial and accounting fundamentals and learn how to apply them, regardless of their specific role on the budget process.

All phases of the budget process are included in this course:

- Planning
- Preparation
- Review
- Presentation
- Monitoring

Specific areas of focus include the relationship between strategic planning and budgeting, financial reporting, the perspective of the funding authority, competing for budget resources, and budgeting for facilities-related expenses, including big-ticket items such as renovation or construction.

It seems inevitable that the nation's courts will be under pressure to reduce expenses in the coming months and years. Participants in this course will be well positioned to compete for scarce budget resources in the budget cycles to come.

Click here to register!

ICM
Institute for Court Management
The Leader In Court Education

June 24, 25, 30
and July 1

1:00-5:00 p.m. ET

A Virtual National Program, including real-time interaction with faculty and fellow participants via interactive exercises and discussions

Tuition: $295

Scholarships available
while funds last!

Course Faculty:

Rhonda Gardner
Virginia Office of the Executive Secretary

Mark Van Bever
18th Judicial Circuit of Florida